

The second round of date selection is for Fridays only and in the core only. Again, Handlers picks first with eight, followed by BSCC (2), PCA (2), SCCA (1) and the rest of the clubs.

Third round is for all remaining days on the calendar. Handlers (5), BSCC (5), PCA (2), SCCA (8), followed by the other clubs adding IRDC to the end of the list. The final round consists of going through the lists of clubs in order of seniority with each club picking one date until dates are filled.

We now have a 2010 season. Easy, right? Wrong!

Between April 12 and Sept. 15 (core dates) there are 22 weekends and three holidays. That is 47 days with clubs picking up to 48! In round two there are 22 Fridays and 18 will be selected. Round 3 for all remaining dates in the season (January through April 11 and Sept. 16 through December) ends up to be 28 dates selected the first time though and whatever is left until gone. Generally there isn't much selected in the November-January period.

Here is where this is going. Handlers could pick 26 Saturday or Sundays from 22 weekends.

So they will select 11 weekends of the 22 available. There are now nine weekends left. BSCC takes seven Sundays that Handlers didn't. PCA selects six Saturdays.

Now it is SCCA's turn. The weekends we can pick from are the following. May 1 and 2 (This is an IRDC event at Pacific) but can be a Time Trials Day on May 2. May 22 and 23 (this is the weekend before Double Nationals for Race and the Wendover Pro). July 3-5 is Sovren Historics and Oregon Region Races. Solo requests July 5 a holiday date. Aug. 28 and 29 is available and selected by Sovren for our SCCA-Sovren Double Regional, Vintage, Time Trials, Drivers School. Sept. 5 is available for Solo even though many will be on the road to Lincoln, Neb., for Nationals. Sept. 11 and 12 is available but that is an Oregon Region race date. This gives us our three days for first round and Sovren's two picks.

Round two has Handlers selecting all eight of their available Fridays; BSCC uses two. PCA doesn't use Fridays and we don't have any race dates selected and pick no Fridays. Sovren picks Aug. 27 for a Performance Driving Experience, Club Trials, Test-n-Tune and drivers school.

Round three and final: Handlers picks April 2-4, Sept. 17-19, Sept. 24-26 and Oct. 1-3. They also finish taking the rest of their Fridays. BSCC completes the Friday picks for their club and selects weekends in October, February and March. PCA picks Saturdays paired with BSCC in October, March, February and a date in January. SCCA selects Feb. 20 for Tire Rack Street Survival, Feb. 21 for an adult-level Street Survival, March 27 for Time Trials, March 28 for Solo, Oct. 17 for Solo, Nov. 20 for Tire Rack Street Survival and through some bartering with PSRRA we get Sept. 12 for Time Trials. There are no other dates on the calendar available that we can use so the selection process is over for us.

This year was actually much different from previous years. Because we were able to see the dates that the first two senior clubs were picking early enough and having a good idea of what other clubs were looking at for other tracks left us with very little choice to what we could choose. In the past we have had to figure out how to select our dates within the selection rounds. Unfortunately, the ease of selection this year means race only has one event, and thanks to Sovren for that weekend. At the actual selection meeting some bartering happened, but it is the easiest meeting we have had.

See the outcome of the selection process under Master Schedule at www.bremertonmotorsportspark.com. The Pro Solo and National Tour dates are on www.SCCA.com. Some of the race clubs have not officially released their schedules but at a later date you can visit www.sovren.org and www.oregonscca.com to find race dates. IRDC's won't be final until January 2010.
