

Dozens of Kirk Salvatore's friends and family and fellow racers paid their respects at the May 2 Time Trials event, dedicated in Salvatore's honor following his death March 19.

Jefferson County still in active agricultural use. The conservation easement permanently protects the 150 acres of pasture of prime soils, 23 acres of forest and more than a half-mile of Chimacum Creek. This grant allows the farm to remain agricultural and passed on to his family.

A memorial service was held March 28 at the farm in the large barn, which held the hay and lots of people.

The NWR Time Trials event held May 2 at Bremerton Motorsports Park was dedicated to Salvatore. His race car, piloted by friend and fellow racer Dan Carchano, took parade laps around the track to the international flag wave by corner workers. The edge of the track was lined with all the competitors, family and spectators attending and honoring Salvatore. The end of day was celebrated with a spaghetti dinner cooked by Salvatore's wife Linda, and his racing memorabilia filled the window sills of the building.

The Salvatore family wishes to thank everyone for all the support.

Race in peace, Kirk.
